FROM THE RABBI

B'nai Sholom member, laughing, "Here, we say nine people plus a Torah makes a minyan!" Like you invented that here? "Here and in every small congregation in the country," I replied.

That was part of a conversation that occurred when I first arrived at B'nai Sholom. This week I was studying Talmud on Zoom (an internet meeting platform) with a couple of rabbi friends in New York. We were reading the tractate of Berakhot – Blessings – the first tractate in the Talmud. We read: Women, slaves, and minors are not counted in a minyan. No surprise there. Then it went on to tell about how once Rabbi Eliezer did count his slave - when there were only nine Jewish free men there. And did you know, if there are only nine, you can count even a baby in a cradle! And – here it comes – when there are only nine you can also count the Ark, where the Torah Scrolls are, as the tenth.

There was no story about counting a woman in the minyan – even in exigent circumstances. Even when she is an acknowledged scholar as Beruriah was. In our congregation if we didn't count women we would only have a minyan on the High Holy Days. Reform Judaism has counted women in a minyan since 1811, and Conservative Judaism since 1973. Not to mention, the whole our-Rabbi-is-a-woman thing. The point is, communities have been having trouble getting a minyan for a loooooooooooooong time. (By the way, a rabbi is not necessary to form a minyan, but a rabbi does count!)

When I first got here, Herb Colker was the stalwart of the Saturday morning service. He would pick up people who didn't have a ride. He would always check with any guests that showed up about their Jewish background. If a person said, "Well, I just found out that my great aunt was Jewish," Herb would say, "Close enough!" They counted in the minyan.

Why require a minyan? Talmud teaches that we don't say certain prayers without a minyan, such as Mourners Kaddish. One idea is that we need a large group to do honor to God. Another is that the community clusters 'round a person in mourning, and even a person remembering a loved one on the yahrzeit (anniversary of their death). Seeing as every week we have someone in that situation, every week we need a minyan. And we do – except for twice that I can remember – have a minyan every Friday night. Every Sunday morning we do, because David Glick has devoted himself to providing it and making phone calls when necessary. Saturday morning a minyan is a very rare thing indeed. We only have five or six regulars. If one of them is sick or out of town we don't even have that.

Why come to a service anyway?

- Some of us come for the music or the meditation offered by the prayers.
- Some of us come to learn: from Torah, Mishnah, Talmud or even current events.
- Some of us come to be with God.
- Some of us come to be with each other.

For some of us – services just aren't our thing. I totally get that. I only challenge you to consider how you fit Judaism into your everyday life, into your week.

A Zissen Pesach – A very sweet Passover to all.
Rabbi Jean E. Eglinton

Our 21st Annual Historic Preservation Fund Raffle was a huge success, thanks to the generosity of our congregants and friends from the Huntington community and across the country who support us each year, and to our new ticket buyers!

- To our Temple Sisterhood led by their fearless Kitchen Goddess, Sharon Pressman.
 - 1.) They took care of the menu and the set up of the hall for the day.
 - 2.) Their tireless effort to keep everyone fed and quenched throughout the day.
- Nancy Newfeld, for doing whatever was needed, from helping in the office with processing mail order tickets and picking up mail, to delivering and selling tickets.
- Diane Shattls, for her support and help in the office leading up to the raffle.
- Our Temple President, Mitch Klein, who served as “check writer” and record keeper of all the winners.
- To our most revered “caller”, Marc Rosen (what would we do without your voice and “tumble drum”) . Your energy during the raffle is awe inspiring.
- A thank you again to Malinda Cains for her foresight in setting us up with the wonderful spreadsheet that keeps us all on track and allows us to check everything in several different ways.
- Our lovely “trackers and checkers” at the front table who are a vital part of our raffle integrity. Thank you Barbara Silverstein, Judy Woodruff, and Sandy Colker.
- Our Board workers, Hannah Compton, Sam Kincaid and Jamez Morris-Smith, Lisa Ketchum, and the Beverage family.
- Our wonderful Youth Group members who are also part of our audit system....again our Raffle is all about the integrity.
- David Glick, our AWESOME 50/50 salesman.....people buy because he is the one sellin’. Our most STELLAR salespeople who went above and beyond. Also, for the donation of the 1/4 page ad in the Herald Dispatch.
- Ticket sellers (who sold 25 or more tickets), David Glick, Scarr Family, Shattls Family, Newfeld Family, and Marilyn Polan.
- Thank you Martha Newby, our more than capable secretary who also helped on the day of the raffle at the head table.
- Bill Whittenburg who keeps our space “spit/spot” and always ready to greet everyone.
- Steven Snyder, whose gorgeous photographs brightened the hall and raised money for the Temple.
- To my cohort, Peter Levy, who did whatever was asked of him....thank you.

New Way to Help: Yahrzeit Memories group

Meets on Thursdays 1:30-3:00 PM in the Board Room. We go through all the names on the yahrzeit lists and write down who each person is - both this person's relation to someone in the congregation AND a short memory or story about him or her.

If you would write a one sentence description of all the people you keep on the Kaddish List, that would help us immensely! Bring them to the office or email them to rabbi@wv-bnaisholom.org.
